Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

2. Claims 1-4 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claim 1, reciting the members of a Markush group in the alternative is considered improper and therefor rendering the claim indefinite.

In claims 2-4 it is recited that "A' is essentially Ni, "B' is essentially Al" etc. which is considered to be indefinite since it cannot be seen how A' or b' can essentially be an element. Either A' or B' is the element or they are not.

Claim Objections

3. Claims 1-4 are objected to because of the following informalities:
Applicants are requested to remove "characterized in that" from the claims since it is not clear if the recited limitations are required or not. Applicants should also note claim 1 encompasses NiO alone which is a notoriously well known material. Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102 and 103

4. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

Art Unit: 1755

(a) the invention was known or used by others in this country, or patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country, before the invention thereof by the applicant for a patent.

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

5. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

6. Claims 1-3 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(a or e) as anticipated by or, in the alternative, under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over Weirauch et al (7,033,469).

Weirauch et al teach a material including Ni-Fe-Al oxide, see compositions of table 2. The intended use of the material does not determine the patentability of the material.

7. Claims 1 and 2 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Hawley CHEMICAL DICTIONARY, Definition of Nickel Oxide and DE 2459211, each taken alone.

Claims 1 and 2 allow y and z to be zero while t is 1 and A' may be Ni with u being zero.

Art Unit: 1755

8. Claims 1,2 and 3 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Japanese document 62-95810.

See compositions of Table on page 44 including 90-10 wt% NiO and 10-90 wt% TiO₂. The intended use of the material does not determine the patentability of the claims. Applicants are claiming a material.

9. Claims 1,2,4 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as anticipated by or, in the alternative, under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over Shutoh et al (5,254,816).

Shutoh et al teach a $(Zn_xNi_{1-x})_2TiO_4$ material, see column 6, lines 19-49. The intended use of the material does not determine the patentability of the material.

10. Claims 1-4 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as anticipated by or, in the alternative, under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over Ray et al (6,423,204 and 6,332,969, each taken alone).

Ray et al teach the compositions set forth in tables 2-5 that are squarely within the claimed material composition. The intended use does not determine the patentability of a composition.

It is noted that the references do not teach that the composition can be used in the manner instantly claimed, however, the intended use of the claimed composition does not patentably distinguish the composition, per se, since such undisclosed use is inherent in the reference composition. In order to be limiting, the intended use must create a structural difference between the claimed composition and the prior art composition. In the instant case, the intended use does not create a structural difference, thus the intended use is not limiting. Please note that when applicant claims a composition in terms of function and the composition of the prior art appears to be the same, the Examiner may make a rejection under both 35 U.S.C. 102 and 103, expressed as a 102/103 rejection (MPEP 2112).

Art Unit: 1755

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
